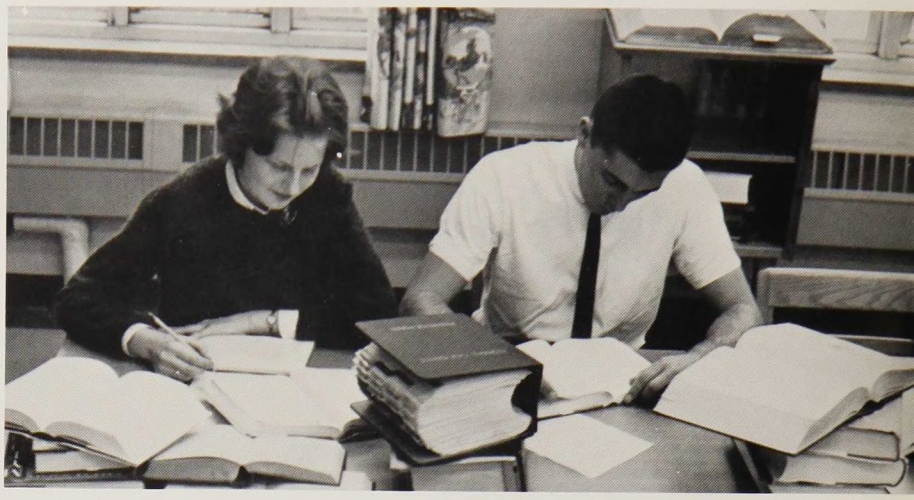
AROUND THE CAMPUS



FOREWORD

The SAGA is essentially a record of past events. Over the span of an eventful four years we have been witness to many physical changes in the buildings in which we have lived and worked; we have seen many numerical changes in the size of the faculty and of the student body of which we were a part; and, last, but of even greater importance, we have undergone radical personal changes in our own understandings of the fundamental purposes on which this school is based. By fostering these changes within us, our college experience has given us a deeper appreciation of our cultural heritage, thus enabling us better to orient ourselves to the world of today. So strong has been the sense of growth and development which we have experienced during our time here at Bloomfield that we cannot present this book as a final summation. Instead, let it be regarded as an unfinished account of people who have come to know that in Bloomfield College "incipit vita nova."

DEDICATION

We, the class of 1962, on behalf of all the students of Bloomfield College, in token recognition of his worthiness, hereby dedicate this yearbook to Melvin H. Kelly, Ph.D., who, by his example in life and life-work, has served to inspire us, as he has those who have come before us, in our attempts to attain an increased measure of maturity and a greater appreciation of educational values. It is our hope, as we depart, that he may continue so to inspire those who will follow after us.

At this time, as editor, I would like to thank the American Yearbook Company and Mr. Louis Esposito, their local representative, for a job well done, those people who purchased the final product of our labors, without whose support we would have striven in vain, Ackerman Studios and their photographer, Mr. Nicholas Petrici, for their quality photographs, Mrs. Florence Manni and all faculty and staff members who assisted us in the compilation and publication of this annual, and, finally, I would like to applaud the spirit shown by that dauntless little band, the SAGA staff, who, through their herculean efforts as editors, photographers, writers, accountants, proof-readers, salesmen, etc., caused this book to become a tangible accomplishment.

Mrs. Mannis is always willing to help a student.

Mrs. Florence Manni

YEARBOOK ADVISOR

In choosing an advisor for a yearbook, there are certain prerequisites which must be taken into account. Among these must be numbered a cooperative attitude, a sense of good taste and judgment, a widely diverse background of knowledge, and a willingness to work. SAGA '62 has been fortunate indeed to find all these qualities in its advisor, Mrs. Florence Manni.

As a librarian, Mrs. Manni has acquired a wide literary background. This knowledge, combined with her fine sense of humor, has enabled the yearbook staff to overcome many obstacles while working in the best possible atmosphere, thus stimulating the necessary spirit and cohesiveness for the successful completion of their efforts.

Truly, this year's SAGA owes much to its advisor's efforts on its behalf, and it will stand as a tribute to her diligence.

Dr. Rath conferring with Mr. Edward C. Jager, Director of the Institute for Christian Leadership.

"THE FIRST THING IN KNOWLEDGE IS REVERENCE FOR THE ETERNAL. IT IS SOUND SENSE FOR EVERYONE." (Psalm 111:10 — Moffatt)

Jesus once told a parable that I would like to paraphrase into the scene of your college classroom. It is the parable of the sower, really the parable of the soils.

"A certain teacher began to teach only to find that the students in his class hated his views. They attacked every statement that fell from his lips, like birds devouring seed that had accidentally fallen onto the roadside.

"And there were other students who applauded the teacher at every opportunity. But they soon forgot what he had said for their interest was short-lived, like seed that fell on a rock where it shot up only to be scorched by the sun.

"And there were still others who allowed the Truth they heard to become entangled with prejudices and superstitions so that it was choked, like the farmer's seed that fell among thorns.

"But there were some students who listened because they wanted to learn. They loved the truth and wanted to share it, like seed well-planted that multiplies itself."

When Jesus finished, he paused quietly and said, "Listen honestly and learn."

It is our sincere hope that each of you who came to Bloomfield for your education will receive the nurture and stimulation that will prompt you to respond to the call of God to become the best man or woman of which you are capable.

Very sincerely,

Theodore A. Rath

". . . The Library

Mr. Scoon and Miss Leithauser at your service!

The library is the heart of any institution of higher education. Its book collection and librarians' skills supplement faculty course instruction and textbook material, endeavoring to answer the immediate query, to stimulate ever-increasing intellectual curiosity, and to extend horizons for inquiring minds. The accumulated wealth of the ages is in a library, and the best of contemporary writing is added continuously.

Dedicated in 1957, our library was the first of four new buildings to be erected in the past five years. This year the entire building was devoted to library services: audio-visual, micro-film reader, group-study, historical and Institute seminar rooms, as well as the large reading room and the open-stack section, housing 35,000 books and a great variety of periodicals.

As every senior knows, the educated man and woman must go on learning, and our college library — available to all alumnie — grows with us.

Busily fulfilling student requests are Mr. Hazen and Mrs. Manni.

It's the girls in the back room who make the Library GO!

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS

"Lux in tenebris . . ."

President Steven Estok always remains receptive to student opinion.

The Bloomfield College Student Association reaches out to every phase of college life — academic as well as social. Under the leadership of its cabinet, which consists of President: Steven Estok, Vice-President: William Yeats, Secretary: Lisa Restuccia, and Treasurer: Leonard Donaldson, the B.C.S.A. moves forward toward its purpose of consolidating college activities into a closer union. Committees and organizations are no longer independent groups existing for their own limited purposes. Instead, under the management of the B.C.S.A., these student groups exist to further the development of the college as a whole.

Maintaining its position as a sounding board for student opinion and as a liaison between the student body and the faculty and administration, the B.C.S.A. has created a system of mutual responsibility. This, above all else, is the aim of the Bloomfield College Student Association as it represents the individual Bloomfield College student.

Whether indoors or in the open air, the quality of the choir's voices remains inspirational.

Bloomfield College Touring Choir, consisting of approximately fifty voices, under the able leadership of Mr. Clyde J. Holt and accompanied by Mr. Nicholas Campbell, has this year again scored successfully for Bloomfield College. While providing an outlet for musical talent among the student body, the choir has also proved to be a valuable aid in publicizing our school. By performing in many churches in the area on week-ends and in nearby states during a ten-day concert tour, as well as appearing on a television program, the choir has made the name of Bloomfield known to many.

Diligent practice, tempered with spirit and loyalty, has created a superb musical achievement for Bloomfield College. The successes of the Touring Choir have been greatly aided by the generous support of the Administration and Board of Directors of the College. Their backing of the choir has enabled many people to enjoy good music.

DRAMA CLUB

The next Flo Ziegfeld deep in thought.

The Bloomfield College Drama Club is the offspring of the one-time annual "Variety Show," which was presented at the College for a number of years. In early 1959, a group of students desired to expand the "Variety Show" into a Drama Club. It was so done; and, in that same year, the curtain went up on our first show, "In Sapphire Seas," which was a musical production under the direction of Mr. A. August Lanna, II.

After the success of this, our first show, the Drama Club became an official organization of the college under the Bloomfield College Student Association and with Mr. Lanna as our advisor-director. Under his able direction two more successes were presented: first, a comedy, "The Man Who Came To Dinner," in the spring of 1960, and second, another comedy, "My Three Angels," in the fall of that year.

After plans had been made for the production of "Finian's Rainbow," Mr. Lanna found it impossible to continue as director owing to the obligations that he held. Instead of dissolving the organization, it was decided by the students that they would present the show themselves. Dr. Elizabeth Ritchie offered to serve as advisor, and "Finian's Rainbow" became the first production to be entirely student produced and directed here at Bloomfield.

What will the future of the Drama Club be? We hope that out of this organization will emerge a Dramatic Arts Department within our school so that those who follow after us may learn the techniques and art of the theater.

Active on campus, Rho Sigma Delta men can be seen assisting at numerous student functions, aiding Dr. Andre Gschaedler in his campus beautification program and taking part in the various intramural activities.

The aim of this group of men is the encouragement of a spirit of brotherhood, attained through the implanting within each member of the highest values in life and thus incorporating a sense of direction and leadership that will serve to promote the American way of life.

TAU ALPHA KAPPA

Tau Alpha Kappa is a sports-centered fraternal organization open to all male students of Bloomfield College who meet the requirements of T.A.K. and of the administration.

The objectives of the organization are to foster the spirit of brotherhood and to promote good sportsmanship. The members, through a variety of activities, seek to foster a unity among all persons on campus, regardless of race, creed, or nationality.

Tau Alpha Kappa has had a full year of activities under the leadership of President Louis Long, Vice-President Joseph Palmieri, Secretary Gary Burman, Treasurer Jon Kolb, and Sgt.-at-Arms Jon Osterberg. This year T.A.K. sponsored the successful "Pep Rally," and chartered frequent bus trips to major sporting events in the metropolitan area.

Finally, it is also Tau Alpha Kappa's honor to annually dedicate, to the most versatile and sportsmanlike athlete at Bloomfield, a plaque which is placed in a position of prominence in the College gymnasium. It is hoped by this gesture that a high plane of fellowship in sports may be encouraged and achieved.

ARTS and SCIENCE CLUB

The Arts and Science Club of Bloomfield College is a rather new organization on campus. The club was organized during the 1960-'61 school year as a service organization to the students, faculty, administration, and general public, for the purpose of encouraging an interest in scientific and cultural activities in and around the metropolitan area of New York City. With this thought in mind, a group of interested students met and drew up a constitution. Officers were then elected and the club became a reality.

Since its formation, the Arts and Science Club has presented many programs of interest to the student body and to the general public, as well. Many field trips have also been taken, with the aim of increasing the insight of students both in the realms of academic and of social life. Some of these excursions have included trips to view Broadway plays, the Statue of Liberty, Bear Mountain, West Point, and many interesting museums.

The members of this club, with the aid of Mr. Leon Abrams, the group's very able advisor, have worked diligently over the past year to make the club the success it is and, through their endeavors, hope to make it prosper further in the coming year.

BLOOMFIELD COLLEGE N.E.A.

A suggestion made by Dr. Alden J. Carr and an invitation to an N.E.A. meeting held at Upsala College launched the Bloomfield College Student National Education Association as a dynamic new club on campus.

The responsibility of the Student N.E.A. program to its individual members, as established by the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards (N.C.T.E.-P.S.), is to provide opportunities for: 1.) personal and professional growth; 2.) developement of leadership skills; 3.) understanding of the history, ethics, and programs at state and national levels; and 4.) participation in professional activities, especially the integration of programs of local associations and student education associations.

As an organization, the Student N.E.A. should deepen the interest of capable students in teaching as a career, encourage the careful selection and guidance of persons admitted to teacher education programs, and, through higher standards of preparation and the dissemination of information, contribute to a reasonable balance in teacher supply and demand.

JEWISH STUDENT ORGANIZATION

The Jewish Student Organization is one of the most recent members in the family of student fellowships at Bloomfield College.

The members of J.S.O. are firmly committed to the importance of religious values as a vital and potent factor in the character development of every human being. Hence, we have organized this fellowship with the following two-fold objective as our goal: a) To provide a forum on campus wherein all students will be afforded the opportunity of learning the great moral and religious teachings of Judaism. b) To promote programming which will enable our members to socialize both within and without the Jewish group.

Through the medium of cultural and social activities we hope to sensitize our members to the great Jewish ideals which are drawn from wells centuries deep. We believe that this knowledge will help our members to break through the crust of social convention and come to a full flowering of our spiritual, intellectual, and cultural potentialities.

PROTESTANT FELLOWSHIP

Boger, Pope, Butler, Havlena, Ramsey, Gurko, Kelshaw, Holdom, Dunbar, Wilson, Wilcox, Wilson, Krajeski, McElvery, Clauss.

A relatively new organization at Bloomfield College, the Protestant Fellowship, with Richard Krajeski as moderator, strives for a deeper understanding of the beliefs and goals of Protestantism in today's world. The group meets once a month to discuss fundamental questions that may be raised by such topics of conversation as "Freud and Religion." In this way the students seek to become more aware of the practical application of Christianity by delving into the ideas of writers, ministers, teachers, and of their fellow students. The purpose of the group is to develop the many aspects and contributions of Protestantism in the direction of student needs and interests. The Fellowship is open to all who wish to participate in discussions of a living Chirstianity, existent in the individual and practiced throughout the Christian world.

DELTA PHI DELTA

Delta Phi Delta, born in the atmosphere of an expanding Bloomfield, is dedicated to the advancement of brotherhood and is seeking to develop through its meetings, social events, and other activities a positive influence on campus. Conceived in the minds of three men, it has progressed from an idea to a concrete reality.

The purpose of this brotherhood is four-fold: 1.) to endeavor to promote a true spirit of brotherhood, 2.) to develop to the fullest the individual's mental capabilities, 3.) to advance the cultural experience of its members, and finally, 4.) to combine these aspects within social fellowship.

It is the hope of the brotherhood that the organization will play a vital role in the dynamic future of this institution.

MINUTEMAN

Goldner, Donaldson, Seymour "Bingsby", Goodman, Conley, Eichelberger.

The Minuteman has been more active during this school term than at any time in the recent past. The editors and staff members have worked diligently to set standards and policies according to the finest principles of collegiate and professional journalism. Striving for the truth, the Minuteman has attempted to present clear, concise pictures of life on campus while at the same time providing a creative outlet for student writing talent.

With an enlarged staff, a capable advisor, Mr. James Hampton, and professional advice from a new printer and publisher, the Minuteman has been able to produce more appealing issues more frequently.

With an eye to the future years of the Minuteman, the present editors have sought to set standards and to initiate tradition-building functions which will provide increasing improvements with each new year of publication.

Just a little something that I picked up for you in Moscow.

As Ass't Editor, I'm proud to announce that another issue made it to the printer.

SAGA

Weber, Gurko, Loeb, Hightower, Lai, Donaldson, Robertson, Wilson.

This year the SAGA staff, faced with almost insurmountable obstacles — not the least of which was the standard set by last year's yearbook under the aegis of T. Richard Daniel — has striven mightily to bring to the students a volume of which they can be proud. There have been several changes incorporated into SAGA '62, notable among which has been the expansion of the section devoted to campus clubs and organizations and the increase in the physical size of the book itself. Truly it has been a hectic time putting this year's SAGA together — but a time which no one interested in the growth of the school and of its representative yearbook would have cared to miss.

I don't care if she IS Little Red Ridnig-hood, she has to pay for her SAGA!

This year the Bloomfield "Deacons" deservedly receive the congratulations tendered them for their achievements over this past soccer season. The reason for this statement is self-evident to any member of the student body, as it is common knowledge that the "Deacs" booted their way to one of their greatest scoring totals in recent years.

An important factor in the team's success was their excellent physical and mental condition. This conditioning stemmed directly from the constant, grueling practice sessions the team went through under the watchful eyes of Coach Robert W. Nichols. Because the team in the better physical and mental condition is the one most often found in the "Win" column, the "Deacs" deserve an extra pat on the back for thus so devoting themselves to training. The results were evident.

Again, this was an excellent season. It was one which gave those who return to the squad next year a great deal of fine experience and one that have given those who are leaving for the last time a fund of wonderful memories.

CHEERLEADING

This year marks a new high in numbers and spirit for the girls of the Bloomfield College cheerleading squad. Regrouping their ranks after the loss of Ann Johnson and co-captain Wilma Dunning, the present co-captains, Pat Patti and Val Hall, have inspired their new recruits with a sense of enthusiasm and loyalty. This positive attitude on the part of the girls has already given, and will continue to give, a tremendous impetus to the spirit of the fans, the team, and the school.

INTRAMURAL PROGRAM

Here at Bloomfield, the intramural athletic program is based upon the principle that the general physical, mental, and social welfare of the college man is enhanced by his participation in organized competitive activities. The program itself is under the direction of a member of the athletic staff assisted by an appointed student manager and includes, in their appropriate seasons, such sports as basketball, touch football, volley ball, tennis, softball, and table tennis.

UNDERCLASSMEN

This class, as one present-day television M.C. would have it, is "really, really BIG." Just a few years ago the entire enrollment of Bloomfield College was not much greater in number than is the present Class of '65. However, it remains for the future to disclose whether or not the Freshman Class is to be noted only for quantity or whether it possesses quality also. We feel confident, however, that such quality as it does contain within each member will show forth as the class progresses toward its own date with destiny.

Sophomore, so they tell us, means "wise fool," in translation. This is a rather unjust cognomen for the Class of '64 to bear. They have weathered the storms of their Freshman year and come back bravely for more of the same. They are no longer unlearned as to the ways of college life or to the demands which this life makes of them. We cannot honestly call the Sophomore Class "wise", for they have much more to learn; but neither can we call them "fools," for they are not — and they alone have proven it to us all.

We Sophomores have such fun!

The Junior Class has been one of proven merit. Passing through the winnowing process of the past two years, separating wheat from chaff, the remaining members of the Class of '63 have proven themselves worthy of the advanced station that they now hold. They have worked together and achieved much, both in a social and in an academic sense, and it has been to their credit. When the time comes, we of the present Senior Class are sure that the Juniors will acquit themselves with honor as Bloomfield graduates.

EVENING SESSION

In September of 1961, Bloomfield College opened an Evening Session with an initial enrollment of 185 students. Most of these students planned to complete degree requirements entirely in the evening. A few, however, have expressed an interest in eventually transferring to full-time status in the Day Session.

The Evening Session is an extension of the regular academic program and evening classes are open to all undergraduates enrolled in Bloomfield College. Majors are offered in Accounting, Biology, Business Administration, Chemistry, English, History, Psychology, and Sociology. Academic standards and requirements are the same as for the Day Session.

Most classes meet two evenings each week — on Monday and Wednesday or on Tuesday and Thursday. The scheduling of these classes offers an educational opportunity to persons who, for personal or employment reasons, are unable to attend classes during the day. It also permits a fuller, and hence more economical, utilization of College classrooms and laboratories.

A majority of the evening courses are taught by full-time members of the College faculty. The Director of the Evening Session is Edward F. Robinson, Associate Professor of History. This year the evening faculty also includes Dr. Ritchie, Mrs. Held, and Messrs. Erickson, Evans, Fuller, Furtney, Hack, Jones, Kellmer, McMillan, Pearce, and Woodbridge.

Mr. Robinson, Director of the Evening Session.
